

Dive into summer reading with Hanford Challenge!

Want to read with us? Liz and I have been collecting reading material through our research for the Nuclear Waste Scholar series and wanted to share what we have lined up for the summer. Happy reading!

1. BLOG Inheriting Hanford: In case you missed it, we have a blog! Our two most recent posts are Hanford End States and Document Mayhem, which both contain links to various reports and studies that we're digging into.
2. GEOGRAPHY BOOK Disarming Doomsday: The Human Impact of Nuclear Weapons Since Hiroshima by Dr. Becky Alexis-Martin: We stumbled upon Dr. Alexis-Martin's work as we were preparing for a screening of Into Eternity. She has a great article about the history of the friendly atom and from there we found her award-winning book.
3. SCIENCE BOOK Exploring Tritium Dangers by Dr. Arjun Makhijani: Dr. Makhijani presented recently for our scholar series on management of nuclear waste in the U.S. He recommended that we check out his most recent book for an accessible explanation of radiation terminology.
4. DISSERTATION Atomic Bodies, Atomic Landscapes by Joshua McGuffie: If you liked Joshua's scholar series talk on radioactive fish, you can go deeper with his dissertation.
5. SHORT STORIES Tender by Sofia Samatar: We had the privilege of pre-reading Dr. Shannon Cram's book, Unmaking the Bomb, which is coming out in October 2023. You can preorder it here! In the book, she references Sofia Samatar's short story, Tender. We were intrigued so we decided to add it to our list.
6. HISTORY BOOK Political Fallout: Nuclear Weapons Testing and the Making of a Global Environmental Crisis by Toshihiro Higuchi: This was recommended to us by Dr. Shannon Cram.
7. CURRENT AFFAIRS/POLITICS BOOK Being Nuclear: Africans and the Global Uranium Trade by Gabrielle Hecht: After hearing Roger Peet's talk on the Shinkolobwe mine we wanted to dig into the story of uranium mining in Africa. This was recommended to us by multiple scholars. If you haven't seen Roger's amazing Shinkolobwe print, check it out here.

Happy summer!

Miya (and Liz)
